Advent

December marks the beginning of Advent, the time of preparation that leads us to the coming of Jesus Christ. Advent is a time to prepare for the birth of Jesus as a baby in Bethlehem and Advent is also a time to prepare our heart, soul, and mind for Christ coming again at the end of the age. We affirm as part of our faith that in the future the kingdom of God will fully come, and Jesus Christ our Lord and Savior will come again as the King of Kings. Right now, at this time in history, through the birth, life, death, and resurrection of our Lord, the Kingdom of God is present on earth. But we are aware that the kingdom has not been fully realized. The Kingdom of God will be fully present in all of its glory when Christ comes again.

Eugene Peterson referred to this time as “living in the middle”, the middle between God’s creating the world as described in Genesis and when God will re-create the world for the Kingdom of Heaven. In Peterson’s book “Reversed Thunder” he writes, “We believe that God is at the beginning of all things and that God is at the conclusion of all life, ‘the Alpha and the Omega’ (Rev. 1:8). It is assumed that the beginning was good (God saw everything he had made, and it was very good) and it is agreed that the conclusion will be good. That would seem to guarantee that everything between the good beginning and the good ending will also be good. But it doesn’t turn out that way. Between the beginning and ending there are disappointments, contradictions, not-to-be explained absurdities, and bewildering paradoxes - each of them a reversal of expectation.”

The good news of the gospel and the celebration at Christmas is that Jesus Christ was born into this middle time. Christ came in the middle to meet us in the darkness, and he brings the light of God into the world.

One of the elements of worship during Advent that recognizes the light of God is the Advent Candle lighting. Each Sunday we will light an additional candle that leads up to the Christ candle on Christmas eve. The four candles of Advent are Hope, Peace, Joy, and Love. Each candle’s light adds to the celebration until Christ’s candle, celebrating his birth, recognizes that God’s light has fully come through Jesus Christ.

To help you prepare for the celebration of Christ’s birth and the future coming of Christ we provide a devotional for Advent. You will find this year’s devotional, “The Light of Grace” available on our Greeters table. Please take one. This booklet provides a 5-minute devotional for each day of Advent. The subtitle for the devotional is “Welcoming God’s Amazing Gift of Christ.” and begins, “Advent is about amazing grace coming in the Son of God, Jesus Christ.” The outline for the devotion follows the Advent candles. Christ’s light of grace offers us hope, brings peace to the world, makes room for joy, and is grounded in God’s love for us. The devotional uses the familiar words from the hymn Amazing Grace to illustrate God’s grace born in a manger.

As we enter Advent I encourage you to journey through this season preparing your hearts to receive Christ, to experience God’s light and God’s amazing grace.

May you have a blessed Advent and a Merry Christmas.

Pastor Bob

Christmas Joy Offering:

Helping Leaders - Past, Present, and Future

As Christians celebrating Christmas this year, we remember God's perfect gift of Jesus and stand in wonder and gratitude that God sent his son to save us. As Presbyterians, it is appropriate that we think also about our leaders, past, present, and future, and do what we can to make sure they have our help when needed.

One very powerful way PC (USA) addresses help for leaders is with the Christmas Joy Offering, this year taken officially on December 17. Fifty percent of the money donated will go to helping church leaders, both active and retired, in times of financial need, by providing supplemental income, housing support, or emergency assistance. A great example of a leader receiving this kind of support is Rev. Peggy Krong, who made a mid-life change to ministry and therefore had very limited resources when she retired. Because of gifts from the Christmas Joy Offering, the Presbyterian Board of Pensions was able to pay her initial fee to move into a retirement home and provide her an ongoing housing supplement. She continues her outreach as she can and is enjoying a secure retirement.

The other fifty percent of our Christmas Joy Offering will be directed to help three Presbyterian-related schools and colleges which reach out to people of color. Menaul School in Albuquerque, Presbyterian Pan American School in Kingsville, Texas, and Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, welcome students of color and provide the support and encouragement needed for their students to become ministers and other church leaders. Mother-and-daughter pair Carla and Savannah are an inspiring example. Because of family issues, Carla had to postpone her education for many years and ended up being a student at Stillman College when Savannah was also there. They received lots of support, and Savannah said that once she became part of the community, there was no way she could fail. That comment speaks to a success we need to support!

Please remember that our church will match up to $2,000 of Christmas Joy Offering donations. Your generosity will make a difference in the life of a church worker or student who needs a financial boost. Be sure to write "Christmas Joy Offering" on the memo line of your check as you join thousands of other Presbyterians in this act of generosity!

Poinsettias

The Deacons invite members of the congregation to take part again this year in the Poinsettia Memorial Program. Inserts will be in the Sunday bulletins starting November 26 and continuing until December 10. Plants will be $15 again this year, and money may be turned in to the church office until Wednesday, December 13. Those purchasing poinsettias may list the names of the people they wish to memorialize. These names will appear in the bulletins on Christmas Eve.

Members who purchase poinsettias are encouraged to take theirs home with them immediately following either Christmas Eve service at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. A Deacon will assist each member in picking up their plant following either service. Members may also choose to leave their plants and let the Deacons deliver poinsettias to shut-ins and others in need of Christmas cheer.

Deacon Sharon Novick and former Deacon Kevin Boyce are coordinating the poinsettia project this year. For further information, please contact Sharon Novick at 630-1483 (cell) or 634-6171.

DEACONS

It has been a blessing to serve as Deacons Local Mission Chairperson and I look forward to continuing to support them in the future. The support of all the Deacons and your generous participation is why the Deacons' projects have all been so very successful.

*Blessings,
Belinda Smith, Deacons Local Mission Chairperson*

Planning for End-of-Year Giving Now is the Time

Many people have to plan for Minimum Required Distributions this time of year. People want to minimize their taxes if possible. One way to do that is to have the MRD sent directly to a charity. The church is a recognized non-profit religious organization and qualifies as a place to send your RMD if you choose. This helps the church and also reduces a person's tax responsibility. If you are interested in this, get advice on the best way to make this happen. This is also a good time of year to look at legacy giving to the church and review your plans. We thank Irmgard Meyer every day for the gift we received through her generosity and vision for the work she wanted done after she was gone.

College/Vocational School Scholarships

Christian Education Ministry announces that the college/vocational school scholarship applications are available for the 2024-2025 academic year. All students interested in obtaining application forms, whether graduating high school seniors, non-traditional students, or current scholarship holders wishing to renew, may find them online. Go to www.firstprescheyenne.org; select the Ministries tab at the top, click Christian Education, scroll to the bottom. Application deadline is March 1.

Two scholarships are available. The General College/Vocational School Scholarship is open to any student who is a member of First Presbyterian Church Cheyenne. The Keith Weigner Memorial Healthcare Scholarship is open to students who are members of any PC(USA) church in Laramie County and planning to enter a field of healthcare. For further information, please contact Margie George, chair of the Scholarship Committee at wgeorge09@msn.com or at 638-8577.

Mission Trip

Jesus told his disciples he came to serve and not to be served. You have an opportunity to serve with fellow congregation members on a Living Water trip to provide safe drinking water to a poor village in Central America.

Our trip is scheduled for April 6-13, 2024, to Nicaragua. Please contact Kevin Boyce at 630-7607 for questions about details. Also see www.water.cc.

Irmgard Meyer Grant News

Reflecting on the Irmgard Meyer Grant Program is amazing. Lives, organizations, and our church have been touched by Irmgard's generosity.

Over the nine years we have had the program we have distributed $3,600,000. That can be seen in a Habitat for Humanity house, Unattended Students housing, washing machine at Comea, a stove at Meals on Wheels – those are the physical things that we can see.

There are people who have benefited – our missionaries in Lebanon, wells dug in foreign countries, Family Promise Program, Story Camp, Needs, Inc – just to name a few.

During Covid when we had unused funds, we distributed those funds to the smaller Presbyterian Churches around the state. The response from those churches was touching to say the least.

In our latest distribution we were able to assist Moorcroft Food Pantry, Buffalo Youth Nation, and our neighbor Burns Presbyterian Church to mention a few.

Irmgard did her share in our renovation program by making a contribution. She also contributes to our budget by giving a percentage of her funds to our annual budget. Her gift is a gift that just keeps giving. First Presbyterian Church and so many others have been blessed by Irmgard Meyer's gift to our church.

Thank you, Irmgard, you are touching lives in ways you could never have imagined.

*Respectfully Submitted,
Connie Davis, Chairman*

In The Library

In The Gift for All People, Max Lucado included meditations, stories, thoughts, ideas, and poems about the wonderful gift Jesus has available for all—his grace and love. We may not accept his gift, but he continues to pursue us, ready to give it when we are ready to receive it. Lucado's words help us to understand this grace and what it can mean for our lives.

Carnegie Samuel Calian wrote Survival or Revival: 10 Keys to Church Vitality in 1998 but his 10 keys are still workable for today. He is challenging churches not to be satisfied just to survive but to revitalize themselves. Some of the 10 keys he discusses are to be a more welcoming church, be concerned with our youth, be biblically literate, promote prayer and worship, practice forgiveness, and work for peace and justice. All these should be a part of our planning for the future.

Calling All History Buffs

Our church has a long history in the city of Cheyenne, and we continue to be an important part of the city.

We were recently awarded the LeClercq L. Jones Award for our “Exceptionally Significant Historic Preservation Efforts.” We were recognized for the work we did to “preserve the looks of the original building while adding to the building in a way that complimented the original structure.”

We also contributed to the beautification of Cheyenne with the placement of the Therese Alberta Parkinson bronze statue on the corner of W. 22nd St. and Capitol.

These are important milestones for our church and for the Cheyenne community. It’s important to acknowledge our accomplishments and keep records of the celebratory and the important achievements. The acknowledgements can be as simple as providing a short article for the bulletin or newsletter or making an announcement at an event. The recording involves organizing, categorizing, and filing various documents.

Because of Peggy Williams and the efforts of previous history buffs, the archives supplied the information that was searched thoroughly by our Anniversary Planning Committee in the creation of our 150th History book, “Celebrating the Past—Looking to the Future”.

You can help us safeguard what has gone before, capture where we are today, and organize it in such a way to show future generations the growth and integrity of our wonderful church and congregation!

We are currently looking for a several people who are interested in preserving our history for future generations in our archives.

What can you bring to the table? What opportunities await you? What experiences, skills, or interests could you contribute to the Archives committee? No experience necessary, just an honest desire to protect our history.

If you have any questions, either Pastor Bob or Peggy Williams could help you out.

Why don’t you think about it, maybe give it a try? You could become the go-to person for all things history or at least someone who could help others find their way through our archives.

Don’t forget to put your pennies in the Pennies for Stained Glass jar toward the rear of the sanctuary. Your pennies help fund maintenance or cleaning of our beautiful windows. Put your age in pennies every year on your birthday!

REMEMBER, IT IS IMPORTANT TO KNOW
WHERE WE HAVE COME FROM AS WE JOURNEY FORWARD MAKING OUR OWN HISTORY.

God’s Voice on the GPS

Since the season of Thanksgiving is upon us, it behooves me to write this big thank you note to Pastor Bob and church members. I know I have been listed on our prayer list for most of the year, and I so appreciated it when Pastor Bob remembered my need by name in front of the altar. Right when I’d thought I had a problem in hand and could be taken off it, another health issue popped up, and I realized how much I needed your dear communal prayers of concern. My mom would say when you pray about it, “it” will come out smooth as silk.

Allow me to recall how I believe your prayers were heard even beyond my health needs. This summer, while driving through Denver to Colorado Springs for my sister’s and husband’s 70th Wedding Anniversary, I was taking the outside lane through heavy traffic which is the faster lane. I’d set my cruise control to slow behind a slower car but gain my set speed limit when that car turned away. Thus I needed not to touch a brake or to switch lanes. I usually took the middle slower lane leading through Denver, but I was in a bit of a rush.

I knew I had passed the Toll Road to DIA near Thornton and was in north Denver when I realized my left lane had gradually veered further left, and I was traveling on a trip east, not south. I was befuddled whether to follow this route which could hopefully turn south past DIA or whether to turn off a south exit now. Since I was running on my cruise control and relying on its camera to slow down, I must have looked down, for upon looking up, I was fast approaching a slower car. I laid rubber and my tires squealed as I waited for impact; however, that car sped up and swept into his left lane, avoiding the collision. He was like a fly spinning sideways from my swatter.

My decision was made, and I shakily took the first right exit to find a turn-off to call family. I didn’t want to turn on a right street with the confusion of returning to the busy four-lane road, so I was happy to see a graveled turn-off to catch my breath. With trash gathered on the streets, I knew I was lost in Aurora somewhere AND that I was so alone. I also knew I had to rely on using my car’s GPS but was uncertain I could program it, as well as concerned whether I could hear the directions or even look down enough to see them on the screen while driving.

When I punched in my sister’s home address, the computer read “No Match.” My heart sunk. Then I punched in “Colorado Springs” with hope the direction would lead me back to I-25. When the map came up, the street I didn’t take just ahead of my turn-off was Apache, the same as my home street in Cheyenne! I first thought the GPS was confused, thinking my car was in my garage in Cheyenne. Then I realized that Apache was diagonal and my Apache perpendicular. Didn’t take long to know I was following God’s direction with His message that I was “home safe.”

With my shakiness abated, I dared to get back on the four-lane busy road again and soon passed a sign on a trailer park called Wickiup. I knew that was an Indian word for a teepee of refuge, and memories of my sisters and mother, while taking a “bonding trip” by staying overnight at rustic cabins in Spearfish Canyon called Wickiup, flooded my fears with a smoothing, silky calm. I literally spoke aloud to God, thanking him for the obvious answer to my prayers for safety on the road, but also I felt the cover of refuge streaming from those many prayers for me that you all had sent up to God’s ears.

Surely God had heard my grateful thanks for He gave me a third direction of comfort. I distinctly heard His GPS voice say I was to take the next right turn. That street was so aptly named for me: “Rosemary.”
